

NANGA SDGS WEEKEND

CONNECTING PEOPLE AND PLANET

FRI 26 - SUN 28

JULY

Photo Terry Devereux

Dwellingup's beautiful forest, 1.5 hours from Perth, gives the chance to reconnect with nature and each other. Participatory workshop includes: mindfulness activities, understanding the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), What is complexity? What is systems change?, building a common agenda, and exercises for designing collaborative solutions amongst different organisations to build a sustainable future for all. Friday evening to Sunday early afternoon.

One World Centre, the WA SDG Network and ACFID are using the SDGs as a framework for personal and societal transformational change by:

Thinking systemically, Working collaboratively, Capturing impact, and Going beyond business as usual.

Facilitated by Dr Peter Devereux with input from Dr Kathryn Choules, Berlin's Dr Sonja Geiger and WA SDG Network members sharing their experience and expertise

COST $220 waged $140 volunteers/unwaged covering workshop, simple accommodation at Nanga Bush Camp, and meals.

Limited space! To register <https://www.trybooking.com/480170>

Early Bird: pay by April 15 and pay $200 waged or $120 vols/unwaged

Enquiries email Drpeterdevereux@gmail.com

