

School of Education Seminar Series
Friday, April 8, 2016
11am – 11:30 am
Staff Common Room

Authentic online community of learning (AoCoL) model

Jenni's presentation will provide an overview of the theory and research that underpins the authentic online community of learning (AoCoL) model. The model and guiding principles were developed as a result of her doctoral study that investigated how to construct more interactive, engaging and student-centred online learning environments that promote key learning skills and encourage self-directed learning.

Presented by
Dr Jenni Parker
School of Education

