MURDOCH UNIVERSITY IS THRILLED TO ANNOUNCE THAT THEY WILL BE HOSTING DR CHRIS SMITH – BBC'S NAKED SCIENTIST, AND HIS LIVE AND EXPLOSIVE CHEMISTRY SHOW!

Tuesday 9th May 2017

6.00pm – 7.30pm

ECL1 South Street Campus

Dr Chris Smith is a medical consultant specialising in clinical microbiology and virology at Cambridge University and its teaching hospital, Addenbrooke's. He is also a Fellow of Queens' College, Cambridge.

Chris started the Naked Scientists radio show, podcast and website back in 1999. He co-presents the Naked Scientists show, is the science correspondent for the ABC RN (Radio National) Breakfast show, Australia, hosts the Naked Scientists on BBC Radio 5 Live on Monday mornings and also talks science and answers listeners' questions for thirty minutes every Friday morning on Primedia's Talk Radio 702 / 567 CapeTalk, in South Africa. Chris also fronts the Royal Society of Chemistry's Chemistry World podcast and he founded the Nature Podcast for the journal Nature. Now and then he also pops up on telly, usually to talk about infectious diseases.

According to Dr Smith, the basic goal of the Naked Scientists is "To help people enjoy science as much as we do and, at the same time, to have fun."
