Invitation to attend this Lunchtime Seminar

Speaker:

Dr Debbie Eagles

Head of the Veterinary Investigations team, Australian Animal Health Laboratory - Geelong, Victoria

Monday 1st of June 2015, 12.30 – 1.30pm, Room VBS 3.024, Building 250

Talk Title:

"Henipavirus Outbreak Investigation in the Philippines: Perspectives from the Field and the Laboratory"

Australian Animal Health Laboratory was involved in a laboratory and field investigation of this outbreak, as part of a WHO international team. In her talk, Dr Debbie Eagles will touch on One Health aspects, the importance of good field/laboratory communication, the findings of the investigation and testing, and the logistics associated with working in a remote area.

Dr Debbie Eagles is visiting Murdoch University as part of Australian Animal Health Laboratory - University Engagement activity that aims to foster better engagement between AAHL and each Australian university that offers a Veterinary Science Degree.
