CUTL:

Learning Support
- As it is a non-teaching week we are busy providing learning support workshops all week for both undergraduate and postgraduate students
- The postgraduate students seminar Flying Start (Monday and Tuesday this week) for PhD candidates has 54 commencing researchers enrolled.
- Assignment Bootcamps for all undergraduate students are full on Tuesday and Wednesday (with 50 students each day) with places left on Thursday (33 students enrolled).
- All details as always on http://our.murdoch.edu.au/Student-life/Study-successfully

Enrolments and Fees:
- This week will be dominated by actions around cancelling students for non-compliance on commonwealth assistance forms, supply of tax file numbers to defer their fees, and non-payment of fees. Commonwealth supported students in particular, have no leeway if they miss deadlines.
- Work on student data for Commonwealth reporting is also important this week.
- April first is the administrative date for assessing the Student Services and Amenities Fee (SSAF), and a reminder will be going to eligible students that deferring the fee to SA-HELP is an option they can consider.

Engagement:
- Jade and her Future Student team are busy interviewing potential Student Ambassadors!

MU Health:
- Andrea Manason (Uni Nurse), Danni McCullough (Uni Counsellor) and Jack Bridges (Ally Leader) collaborated to create and run a sexual health workshop for LGBTQI+ students. This is a first for Murdoch and is quite innovative to run a workshop of this type for students in the LGBTQI+ community. The attendance was good and feedback was excellent with requests for more sessions to be run throughout the year.

Partnerships And Contracts:
- Partnerships team organised a campus visit for University of Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta (UMY) on Tuesday 20\textsuperscript{th} March. The delegation comprised of Senior Lecturers, Lecturers and students International Program for Islamic Economics and Finance (IPIEF) of Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta. The visit was a part of their program called, “International Program for Islamic Economics and Finance (IPIEF) International Visitation (I2V) 2018”, that brings a theme on “A Multicultural Understanding for Broadening Experience”. The group visited School of Arts and attended two lectures on Indonesian Studies by Mr Irianto Ryan Tedja, Associate Lecturer in Indonesian.
- They also met Associate Professor Chris Smyth from School of Arts and had a meeting and discussion with Ms Celia Cornwell, Associate Dean Engagement and International Development and Dr Ariful Hoque, Senior Lecturer in Finance from School of Business and Governance on Islamic Finance. Students from MUISA (Murdoch University Indonesian Student Association) took the group around for a campus tour and photos.

Scholarships:
