The Sir Walter Murdoch School of Public Policy and International Affairs together with
Murdoch University’s Asia Research Centre Invites you to a seminar with

Professor William Grimes, Professor of International Relations & Political Science, Boston University on

‘East Asian Financial Regionalism: Why Economic Enhancements Undermine Political Sustainability’

Professor William Grimes specializes in Japanese and East Asian Political Economy, Japanese Politics, International Political Economy. He has taught in the International Relations Department at Boston University since 1996. Before becoming department chair in 2010, he helped to found BU Center for the Study of Asia and served as its first director from 2008-10. Previously, he spent time as a post-doctoral researcher and as a visiting assistant professor at Harvard University.

Discussant

Professor Richard Higgott, Vice Chancellor Murdoch University

On

Thursday 6 February 2014

12.30pm to 2.30pm

Senate Building Level 2 Room 2.002

Light lunch & refreshments provided

Please RSVP, dietary requirements to Jade Lim jade.lim@murdoch.edu.au

by c.o.b Tuesday 4 February 2014