

Message from Singapore Dean

With close to a quarter of Murdoch University's student population in Singapore, Murdoch has one of the largest transnational education operations of any university in Singapore. Murdoch has a proud history of close engagement in Singapore that dates back to the 1990s, and which has produced many thousands of Murdoch graduates who for a variety of reasons, choose to study their Murdoch program in Singapore. Murdoch partners with the award-winning Kaplan Singapore (part of the global education company Kaplan Inc) to deliver world-class undergraduate and postgraduate courses to more than 5000 students.

Murdoch Singapore (Murdoch University's Singapore subsidiary) provides academic, learning and administration services to its large population of Singapore-based students and alumni. Additionally, Murdoch Singapore undertakes research of importance to Singaporeans through its research centre, the Singapore Centre for Research on Innovation, Productivity and Technology or SCRIPT. With a large student enrolment, first-class support services and strong commitment to research, Murdoch University seeks to maintain and further strengthen its reputation for transnational education excellence in Singapore.

Professor Peter Waring
Pro Vice Chancellor Transnational Education & Singapore Dean