Access Southwest

Murdoch University's Alternative Entry Encouragement Program for Year 12 WACE students attending high schools in the Rockingham/Kwinana/Peel Regions.

Murdoch University has a commitment to increasing access to tertiary study for a diversity of people. The Access Southwest Program is part of the University's response to that commitment with particular focus on those students at schools in the Rockingham/Kwinana/Peel areas.

What is Access Southwest?

Access Southwest hopes to encourage Year 12 WACE course students at high schools and colleges in the Rockingham, Kwinana and Peel areas to consider entry to Murdoch University. The program is for those students who may achieve an Australian Tertiary Admissions Rank (ATAR) which falls below that required for entry to Murdoch University, and who have nominated a Murdoch course as their first preference on their TISC application. Completion and acceptance of an Access Southwest application will allow students to receive individual consideration of their intention to study at Murdoch University.

How to apply

A student who wishes to be considered under this program must complete an application form and submit it with a Transferable Skills Form (This form is to be completed by school teaching staff).

Application and Transferable Skills Forms are available from your school or by contacting the Equity, Access and Diversity Office at Murdoch University.

Details of your TISC preferences are required. Selection and notification for this program occurs after the release of the final WACE results for that year.

Remember to be considered under Access Southwest you must have nominated a Murdoch course as your first preference.

Acceptance of your application does not guarantee a place in a Murdoch University undergraduate course.

The closing date for this program is the last Friday in October.
